Sir:

On December 16, 2008, Applicants' representatives Douglas Pearson and Leland Gardner met with Examiner Aaron Strange to discuss the above-identified application. Specifically, Applicants' representatives and the Examiner discussed the Office's combination of Perlman, Corts, and Getsin set forth in the claim rejections of the Office Action of September 4, 2008. Applicants' representatives contended that the Office's rejection based on the hypothetical modification of the system of Corts to incorporate scheduling approach of Perlman and the disabling/enabling of content according Getsin was deficient since the claims require scheduling at the broadcast side, and Perlman's scheduling technique is driven by a user at a receive side. The Examiner said that his intent was to rely on the scheduler of Corts for scheduling at the broadcast side and to rely on Perlman for breaking content into first and second types. Applicants' representatives pointed out that this is not how the current rejection is structured, and the Examiner stated that he did not view this as a new rejection. No agreement was reached.

Respectfully submitted,

Douglas H. Pearson
